Test 13

Read the poem and answer the questions given.

Today I had a rotten day
As I was coming in from play.
I accidentally stubbed my toes,
And tripped and fell and whacked my nose.
I chipped a tooth. I cut my lip,
I scraped my knee, I hurt my lip.
I pulled my shoulder, tweaked my ear,
And got a bruise upon my rear.
I banged my elbow, barked my shin.
A welt is forming on my chin.
My pencil poked me in the thigh.
I got an eyelash in my eye.
I sprained my back. I wrenched my neck.
I'm feeling like a total wreck.
So that's the last time I refuse,
When teacher says to tie my shoes.

Test 15

Read the test and answer the questions.

Why do not most people have any aim in life? Setting a life goal and working to achieve it is not a small task. Many lack the understanding of how to do it, and do not try to obtain the knowledge required for it. Such people are like ships without rudder or compass, sailing to no definite port, blown hither and thither with every change of wind. They live an aimless life; and what they do, and what they become, is highly a matter of chance, determined by the circumstances in which they happen to be placed.

So every person must have a definite aim in their life. A definite aim is specific, clearly defined statement of purpose. It has the power to guide our subconscious mind. It transforms our attitude from pessimism into positive expectation .A man striving to realize a clearly defined ideal is like a steamship steaming by compass to a known destination. It does not depend on the wind. Such a man sees before him what he is aiming at, and his determination to attain it carries him forward whatever obstacles may stand in his path; for “ where there’s a will, there’s a way’.

Different people have different aims in life. Some focus on power, some on wealth, some want to become successful businessmen, some choose knowledge and education while some choose fame. An artist has before his mind a standard of excellence in his art; a statesman aims at carrying through great schemes for his country’s advancement; a devout man has before him a high ideal of goodness and will not be satisfied till he attains it.

Aimless life is a sin these days. Aimless people are like tired travelers without any specific destination.so it is more necessary to see that one’s aim, one’s ideal, is noble and good. For the more earnestly we strive to attain our aim, the more surely shall we realize it. In all cases the ideal a man sets before himself determines the sort of life he will live, and the sort of man he will live, and the sort of man he will be. If the ideal be noble, he will become noble; if it be base, he will become base.

1. Why do not most people have purpose in their life?
