Read the following text and answer the questions.

I've got a friend who can play the flute really well. She is studying music at college and when she finishes she will be able to get a job in an orchestra. She enjoys playing the flute and she can play any song she hears. I'd like to be a professional musician too. I like to play a musical instrument well, but I can't. My father bought me a guitar for my last birthday. I started getting tuition to learn how to play it but I can't play very well.

My tuition master said that I need to practise for hours every day, but for the last six months I haven't been able to practise much. I couldn't attend the class because I've had too much work to do. I dream that one day in the future I will be able to play like a great guitarist, but it is only a dream and I'm sure I won't be able to play like an expert guitarist.

Pillow Talk

Last night I heard my pillow talk
What amazing things it said
About the fun that pillows have
Before it's time for bed

The bedroom is their playground
A magical place to be
(Not a room for peace and quite
Like it is for you and me)

They dive bomb off the wardrobe
Do backflips off the chair
Use the mattress as a trampoline
Turn somersaults in the air

It's leapfrog then Pass the Sliper
Handstands and cartwheels all round
Wrestling and swinging on curtains
And all with hardly a sound

I'd quite fancy being a pillow
Playing games and lying in bed
If I don't have to spend each night
Under your big snoring head!

Test 15(8 Marks)

Read the following passage and answer the questions.

I left my friend's house shortly after seven. It was still too early for me to have my evening meal, so I walked along the seafront for about an hour until I began to feel hungry. By that time I was not far from a favourite restaurant of mine, where I often went to eat two or three times a week. I knew the owner well and frequently complemented 5 him on his excellent cooking.

I went into the restaurant, which was already crowded, and ordered my meal. While I was waiting for the soup to arrive, I looked around to see if I knew anyone in the restaurant. It was then that I noticed that a man sitting at a corner table near the door kept glancing in my direction, as if he knew me. I certainly did not know him, for I never forget a face.
10 The man had a newspaper open in front of him, which he was pretending to read, though all the while I could see that he was keeping an eye on me. When the waiter brought my soup, the man was really puzzled by the familiar way in which the waiter and I addressed each other. He became even more puzzled as time went on and it grew more and more obvious that I was well known in the restaurant. Eventually he got up and went into the 15 kitchen. After a few minutes he came out again, paid his bill and left without another glance in my direction.

When I had finished and was about to pay my bill, I called the owner of the restaurant over and asked him what the man had wanted. The owner was a little embarrassed by my question and at first did not want to tell me. I insisted. "Well," he said, "that man was a
20 detective." "Really?" I said, considerably surprised. "He was certainly very interested in me. But why?" "He followed you here because he thought you were a man he was looking for," the owner of the restaurant said. "When he came into the kitchen, he showed me a photograph of the wanted man. He certainly looked like you! Of course, since we know you here, I was able to convince him that he had made a mistake." "It's lucky I
25 came to a restaurant where I am known," I said, "otherwise I might have been arrested!" On my way back home, I was thinking about the man that the detective was searching for. "Have I ever come across a man who resembles me?" "I thought to myself because my life is at risk at any moment."

The next day, I went to the same restaurant, not because I was hungry, but to meet the 30 detective who was eagerly searching for a suspicious man who looked like me. I was spending hours and hours until he comes. The owner of the restaurant was confused over my act of finding that man. "All I want is to safeguard myself because at any moment I could be arrested for another one's deed." I said. He understood the severity of the issue and promised me to inform immediately if that detective visits the restaurant again. But 35 until today neither me nor he met the detective.
